COVERS RICHEST GOLD AREA IN CALIFORNIA

Vol. 13, No. 23. The County Seat Paper NEVADA CITY, CALIFORNIA The Gold Center MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1939

From the Californian, March 15, 1848:
The Liberty of the Press consists in the right to publish the Truth, with good motives and for justifiable ends. —Alexander Hamilton.

Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We are more than ever convinced that the late Woodrow Wilson proposed the only just and satisfactory method of establishing and maintaining world peace. The league of nations was his creation. It was modified, of course, from his conception of it, but not sufficiently to have destroyed its fundamental rightness. The league has never reached its goal, because a few stubborn isolationists in the U. S. Senate, balked at permitting the United States membership in it. Senators Hiram Johnson and the late Henry Cabot Lodge, were mainly responsible for that defeat of a plan that might have preserved world peace.

Today we reap the bad harvest of that refusal to ratify the Wilson plan. Germany again raises an ugly truculent head, and proceeds to "take" what it can. Treaties again become scraps of paper. Nations repudiate their obligations. Minorities are not only oppressed, they are cruelly beaten and robbed as individuals. Czecho-Slavakia, has vanished. Austria has been swallowed by the same big, bad wolf, that the United States helped to whip twenty years ago.

We do not attempt to come to any judgment regarding the rights or wrongs of Czecho-Slavakia, or even of the Jews soatrociously used, in Germany. It may be that the Jews abused their citizenship priviliges as doctors, merchants, scientific researchers, and teachers in Germany, as it is charged, and now must pay the dreadful penalty Hitler imposes. The whole story this generation will probably never know. History will sometime tell it. But the fragmentary parts of the story we do hear outrage our sense of decency and justice.

But the league of nations as conceived and finally established, provided for reviews of the questions, before tribunals set up for that purpose, that were formerly answered by test of arms. International law was to have become world law, and machinery for its administration was provided. It is quite possible, even probable, that in modifying the Wilson plan, many faults developed in the league structure. But in time with an earnest effort on the part of league adherents these could have been cured, just as we today cure the faults of our Constitution by amendment.

We do not regard it as too late, even with all the wars now going forward, to re-establish a new frame work of world peace, justly enforced. If for instance England, France and the United States, were to pool their international interests and say to the rest of the world, and mean it; "There shall be no more war," the first thing to happen, with a practical program offered to put a stop to war, would be the enrollment of Belgium, Holland, the Scandinavian countries, South and Central America, and other nations that preserve in practice, or at least in form, the democratic principles of government. The establishment of mutually advantageous trading relations among the participants in this plan, the mere fact that preponderance of the world's wealth and armed forces would be under control of the new international association, would in a short time force the dictatorships into memberships, without, in all probability, resort to war.

Under the old league plan, if the United States had once wholeheartedly given its allegiance, it was quite possible for Germany or any other aggrieved nation to bring its complaint into a great world court and there have it adjudicated. Adjustments of the Versailles treaty could have made, conflicts of economic interests ironed out, trade relationships given sanctions of international law, boundary disputes settled, minority claims recognized and adjusted, plebescites held to determine regional preferences and a whole new order of world peace under international law established.

That was President Wilson's dream, and a war ridden world hailed him as a Messiah. Today, because a small group of Republicans in the United States Senate refused to ratify the league covenant our Congress is voting hundreds of millions for armament. Because our Congress for a half century or more have bungled our trade relations with other nations, we are discriminated against and suffer a nine year depression for this, and of course, for the war we won and lost. As a member of an international body, the United States, could have saved, not only billions in taxes for relief and for armament, but probably could have converted most of the world to the democratic ideals we cherish.

REPUBLICANS IN FIGHT TO HOLD DOWN TAXES

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—Determination to reduce California's largest state budget, submitted by the governor in the unprecedented sum of $557,163,355, was expressed here today by a group of state legislators led by Assemblyman Gardiner Johnson of Berkeley.

"We are determined to scrutinize every item in this budget to ascertain its necessity," Assemblyman Johnson said. "We want to eliminate every unnecessary expenditure.

"Mounting costs of state government hit the middle class of our people more heavily than any other class. The small businessman has received far too little consideration. Additional taxes have to be paid by the small businessman directly. He cannot as a rule pass them on to the ultimate consumer."

Particularly bad is the inclination of some of our officials to present bills that would impose additional payroll taxes, Johnson said. This tendency will prolong or even aggravate unhealthly business conditions as many small business men operate on an annual return of around six per cent and, "there are bills pending which, if all were approved, would place a total of more than six per cent payroll taxes on every small businessman employing four or more people," the solon stated. "Also," he added, "the payroll deductions from employees' salaries would increase in many cases to the point of hardship."

Senator John Phillips of Banning supplemented Johnson's statement with the declaration that protection for the farmer as well as the small businessman will be a major objective of the legislature session.

"It is a poor time to be talking about raising the salaries of state officials, most of whom are being adequately paid now, when our farmers are facing a fight for survival," he said. "Taxes are a burden to the small farmer as well as the small businessman, and upon the welfare of these classes, the prosperity of everyone in the state depends to a large measure."

GEORGE LEGG DONATES STREET STRIP TO CITY

George Legg has donated to the city a strip of land along Union street, which will enable the council to widen the street by as much as ten feet in some places. It will take a bow out of the street alignment so that persons entering the street can see to the other end without obstruction. This is a much needed improvement. It is also proposed, according to City Engineer Ed Uren, to build a new sidewalk along the forest service lot on the northern side of the street, from which a WPA crew recently extracted some old poular stumps.

BOWMAN MINE

Carl Johnson of Nevada City and Harold Casey of Alleghany have started to work their property the Bowman mine at Plum Valley. In the early fall considerable sluicing was done but snow filled the long ditch preventing them from making a final cleanup. There is about a fott of snow on the ground and as soon as it melts work on the gravel channel will be resumed. In the meantime Casey and Johnson with two other men are cleaning out a long tunnel driven on the vein. In their last operations they started a cross cut near the mouth of the tunnel in slate formation where splendid ore has been mined in the past.

Mrs. Stanley Sills of Brookfield, Harry Cooper and Miss Carolyn Fuller of Oakland drove up from the bay region yesterday and spent the day with Mrs. Belle Douglass. All three are cousins of Mrs. Douglass.

Miss Elaine Mobley of Auburn spent the week end in Nevada City. She came to visit her father who is at the Nevada City Sanitarium.

CHAMBER TO MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

Gallagher requests that all members be in attendance as there are several matters of importance to be considered. The directors will meet at 7:15 for transaction of business.

C C CORPS WILL CELEBRATE 6TH BIRTHDAY SOON

The Civilian Conservation Corps will be six years old on April 5, and according to word received by the Tahoe National Forest headquarters at Nevada City, Director Robert Fechner has requested that army officials in charge of CCC work, and the technical services involved cooperate in the observance of the anniversary some time during the period March 31 to April 15, preferably by holding "open house" celebrations to which the public would be invited and given an opportunity to inspect the camp facilities for the welfare, education and training of enrollees, and the work projects being carried on by the enrollees under the supervision of the technical services. In this way the public can become acquainted with what the corps is doing toward the conservation of American human resources and its contribution to the conservation of natural resources of the nation.

At 9 p. m. on April 3 Director Fechner will participate in the Washington Eveneng Star's radio forum, which will go over the coast to coast Blue network of the National Broadcasting Company, originating from WMAL, Washington. At 12:35 p. m. on April 7, over the National Broadcasting Company's Farm and Home Hour, Uncle Sam's forest ranger program will be a celebration of the sixth anniversary.

Two camps are located on the Tahoe National forest, according to officials at Nevada City, Camp Grass Valley, near the town of Grass Valley, in charge of Lieut. Paul Bellamy, and Camp Bradley, near Forest Hill, in charge of Lieut. Galvan. Project superintendent V. J. Wilson and Leon G. Johnson are in charge of forest service conservation projects in connection with the two camps.

JOHN D. MEYER OF CHICAGO PARK PASSES AWAY

John D. Meyer, 69, died at his home in Chicago Park today. He was a fruit grower and had come to this section from his native land Germany when a youth. He was married in 1905 and leaves besides a wife two children, Mrs. Paula Hoeger, Sacramento and Rudolph Meyer of Chicago Park. Three sisters in Germany. Holmes Hooper Funeral Home have charge of funeral arrangements. Services will be held Wednesday with interment being made in the Chicago Park cemetery.

Capt. George A. Nihell came into Nevada City today from his home in the Banner Mountain section where he had been snowed in about two months. The last storm brought about 30 inches of snow which is practically all gone now. Two brothers have leased Capt. Nihell's mining ground from the Deer Creek Union mining company. They installed pumps and are unwatering the shaft.

Liltle Beryl Robinson, Jr., fell down the steep steps at his home on Sacramento street last Thursday and broke his right arm. He is carrying his arm in a cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Duhane of Sacramento spent Sunday in Nevada City as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dolan. Mr Dolan and Mr. Duhane worked together years ago while they were employed by the P. G. & E. company.

Miss Helen Jones of Sunnyvale and Miss Nancy Jones of Marysville spent the past week end at the home of their parents, Judge and Mrs. George L. Jones. They enjoyed snow sports while here.

CLAMPERS GET READY TO GO TO NOR. SAN JUAN

Clyde Gwin, chairman of the E Clampus Vitus committee in charge of the big "let-there-be-light" celebration at North San Juan, which will mark the advent of electric lighting in the historic old placer mining center, has set Saturday night April 29, as the date for the big event. It was a year ago, April 2, 1938, that the William Bull Meek chapter of E Clampus Vitus organized with 10 poor blind candidates for Deer Creek Diggin's.

It is understood that almost thirty candidates are being groomed for an initiation to be held in Twamley hall in North San Juan following the parade and "speechifying." Several of these are pioneers from the early day lodge at Sierra City.

The Pacific Gas and Electric company's crew is now engaged in setting up a pole line from Cherokee junction to North San Juan. This will be a branch of the line recently erected along the Ridge to carry current into Alleghany.

Prior to the big celebration in North San Juan, the Clampers will hold an election of officers This will take place, probably, on the night o April 1, "All Fools Night," and will be conducted with the usual Clamper dignity and decorum

It is understood that the class of candidates at North San Juan are unusually upstanding and well endowed muscularly. For this event, therefore, the Clamper initiatory team is fondly currying a he-demon goat. The animal has gone into training near North Bloomfield. This goat, it is whispered, keeps in form by butting holes through the old brick walls of some of the abandoned buildings there.

CAR CHECK OF SKIERS REVEALS MOST FROM BAY

Nearly three fourths of the snow sports visitors to the Donner Summit recreation area come from the San Francisco bay region, and Sacramento county, according to a recent random check of Sunday morning's snow sports traffic made by District Ranger J. R. Hodgson of the Tahoe national forest. Hodgson checked 190 cars between the Summit and the Blue Canyon airport and by checqing license numbers with the Department of Motor Vehicles, found that 40 per cent of them came from the bay area. 27 per cent from Sacramento county, 8 per cent from Placer county, 3 per cent from Nevada county and the remainder were scattered over seventeen counties of the state. Hodgson states that this represented about 14 per cent of the use for that particular day, which would indicate a total of 1400 cars visiting the area. It was estimated that approximately half of the visitors travelled through Sacramento county and over half through Auburn, and the cities between Auburn and Sacramento on their way to the snow playfields.

Hodgson found that 8 per cent travelled through Grass Valley and Nevada City and was of the opinion that further improvement of the Tahoe Ukiah highway would tend to increase the traffic through those two towns.

STEEL CO. AGENT CONFERS WITH CITY COUNCIL

Mr. Rudy, representative of the Columbia Steel company, of San Francisco met with the city council this afternoon and presented a plan for an all steel grate floor for the Gault bridge. The council considered the cost which was considerably more than they had planned. Rudy also stated the cement covering as planned was too heavy for the present bridge structure. At time of going to press the council was in session with Mr. Rudy.

A marriage license was issued today March 20, 1939 to Ira Roy Burton, 46, and Edna Eppright 44, both of Nevada City. Application to wed wed was made last week.

Son, Who Beat Father To Death, Has Long Record Of Crime

A complaint has been signed by Mrs. Charles Cowles, against her son Herbert Cowles, 32, who is alleged to have beaten his father, Charles Cowles, Wednesday night at their Indian Flat cabin, so severely that he died of his injuries Saturday night.

Since the arrest of Herbert Cowles, it develops that he has a long criminal career. Herbert Cowles' criminal career began in Placer county in 1925 when he was arrested and served a county jail term for disturbing the peace. In 1926 he was arrested on a samilar charge in Placer county. On July 31, 1926, Cowles was given a San Quentin prison term on a charge of grand theft. Following his release from that prison he was arrested in North Sacramento on a misdemeanor charge. Shortly there after he was sentenced to Folsom Prison on a charge of grand theft from Yuba county. That was in October 1932. After he was released on a pardon from Folsom he was arrested in Chico, then in Sacramento. In November, 1937 the Nevada county authorities arrested him on a petty theft charge brought by Mike Kendrick. He served six months following his conviction by a jury.

According to the story told Undersheriff Bill Woods by Mrs. Cowles, her son came home at midnight Wednesday intoxicated. He woke up his father and asked him to go out and find a hound that had been released from the cabin earlier in the evening. The father refused to go, whereupon the son dragged him from his bed and beat him on the head leaving him insensible upon the floor.

Herbert, according to his mother's story then ordered him to cook a meal for him, which she said, she did. After eating, she stated, her son returned to his father, lying unconscious on the floor lifted him up and again struck him a crushing blow on the head. She reports that she thought he used nothing but his fists, but admitted he may have had something in his hand. The father never regained consciousness, and remained unattended until noon, Thursday, when Dr. W. W. Reed was called. Cowles was then taken to the county hospital. where he died of a brain hemmorhage, as revealed when Drs. Reed and Benteen performed an autopsy.

Herbert Cowles was arrested on Thursday and has remained in jail since then. Mrs. Cowles is reported to suffered convulsions from fright and was treated at the county hospital Thursday.

Cowles will have his preliminary hearing as soon as District Attorney Stoll returns from San Francisco.

The company has run a raise from the 1600 foot level to the 1000 foot level and a motor train carries ore to the mill.

CALIFORNIA NOW LEADS IN AUTO REGISTRATIONS

California again leads its closest rival, New York, in total registrations of vehicles for the year 1938. The New York figures were just received by Registrar Howard E. Deems at Sacramento revealing that California exceeded its rival with a total of 30,188 vehicles of all types registered during the past twelve months. California's total was 2,698,997 vehicles.

The Golden State continues to maintain its low average cost per vehicles of $7.10 as compared with the New York average cost per vehicle of $16.50. Only seven states have a lower average cost of registration for automobiles, trucks, trailers and busses. These states are Georgia, Nebraska, South Carolina, Utah, Wyoming, Nevada and Massachusetts. Only one of these states has a total registration in excess of 1,000,000 vehicles. Figures compiled by Registrar Deems for the average fee per vehicle were arrived at by dividing the total number of vehicles into the total fees collected to accomplish the registration of all types of vehicles during 1938.

California registration collections amounted to $22,332,421 for the past year including the "in lieu" tax fees which were approximately the same amount for the calendar year as the registration fees collected.

Revolution Insurance

With estimated state expenditures for the new biennium over-loading the tax structure to a degree where many new taxes have been proposed, in addition to sharp increases in present taxes, Assembly Ralph C. Dills of Compton declares before the joint Senate-Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committees:

"I've listened with patience to objections of business and industry to increasing taxes. It might be well to give these taxes willingly for the retention of your industry and regard it as revolution insurance!"

"Revolution insurance," Mr. Dills should be asked, "for whom?"

California taxpayers have paid taxes for the support of normal governmental functions, even when normal functions expanded abnormally—without undue protest. They have paid taxes for expansive experimentation and colossal pump-priming projects—still paying conscientionsly, because they were told it was an emergency. They have paid taxes for pensions; taxes to support the unemployed; taxes to care for the indigent and unemployables; taxes to support everyone less fortunate than themselves.

But there comes an end—even to the patience of that "forgotten man," the taxpayer. For there are many taxpayers in California today who earn less—after they have played the Good Samaritan to the unemployed and the free-handed politician—than Assemblyman Dills, with his state salary, or the WPA shovel wielder, when his government-guaranteed pay-check.

Perhaps we should hear from a taxpayer on this question of "revolution insurance." We quote William A. Pixley of Los Angeles, secretary of the Property Owners Association of California, whose organization represents, not Big Business, but 16,000 small home-owners. States Mr. Pixley: "We are rapidly approaching the point in taxation where we shall destroy the workers and producers who support the unemployed and dependent. What will happen then I am not prepared to state. It may be revolution, but it won't be a WPA revolution! Taxes have ceased to be taxes; they have become extortion—and it is time for any legislator who values his own welfare and the welfare of his state to call a halt."

We are inclined to agree with Mr. Pixley — not Mr. Dills.—Contributed.

"Mankind United"

While a thousand California newspapermen were gathered in San Francisco last week to celebrate the Ad Club's annual Newspaper Day, one Claybourne Randolph Tatum had this to say about newspapers and those who run them:

"The press, subsidized by hidden rulers, uses its typewriters rather than its brains." Mr. Tatum was incensed because of a "conspiracy of silence" by newspapers to keep from the people news of a fantastic plan known as "Mankind United," of which he is the "Voice."

Mr. Tatum, and his aides promise—to all who will pay $2.50 for a book entitled "Mankind United"—a new social order in which everyone will have a salary of $30,000 a year, a $25,000 furnished home, free travel during four months annual vacation, in return for working four hours a day, four days a week. They seek 200,000 converts—with $2.50 each!

Well, Mr. Tatum, the "conspiracy of silence" is broken here, as it is being broken in other newspapers as wires flash news of your astronomical promise to guarantee to two hundred million persons an income 60 times greater than the entire income of the American nation!

There will never be a "conspiracy of silence" by the American Press on exposing schemes that promise more money than there is in the world, in order to sell books. And, since 91 per cent of the adult population of America read newspapers every day, it isn't likely that "Mankind United" will do so well. Newspapers are the world's bulwark against schemes to delude the needy, the trusting or the unthinking, into putting up hard-earned dollars in quest of a fictional Utopia.—Contributed.

The debris dam at the Narrows on the Yuba river will not be far enough advanced to permit piping on the properties under option to C. E. Clark who is also operating the Lucky Jane. Two adjoining properties are in shape for hydraulic operations as soon as the dam is completed.

Newspaper advertising is credited with playing a vital part in building the tremendous sales leadership of Acme Beer, according to an announcement made today by Karl F. Shuster, president of Acme Breweries of San Francisco and Los Angeles, one of the west's most popular and outstanding business executives.

"During 1938 Californians drank 3 1-3 million gallons more of Acme Beer than they did of the next most popular brand, according to the official figures of the State Board of Equalization," Shuster points out. "In fact, each year since repeal Acme Beer has enjoyed an ever-increasing margin of leadership throughout the west. And we attribute the great popularity of Acme not only to the quality of the product itself, but also to the power of consistent newspaper advertising in calling a quality product to the attention of countless millions of people."

Shuster adds that Acme Breweries has yearly devoted a major portion of its advertising appropriation to newspapers because of the consistent results obtained; and that the spring of 1939 will mark the largest and most continuous newspaper advertising campaign ever conducted for Acme Beer.

MINE JIG MAKES HIGH RECOVERY PERCENTAGES

Hal D. Draper and Cole Nauman made a demonstration with their mine jig at the California Liquidating company property near Jamestown last Wednesday and Thursday. The jig recovered better than 90 per cent values from a 20 to 25 ton mill run in less than 100 pounds of concentrates. Plans are to test another property near Ione in the next few days.

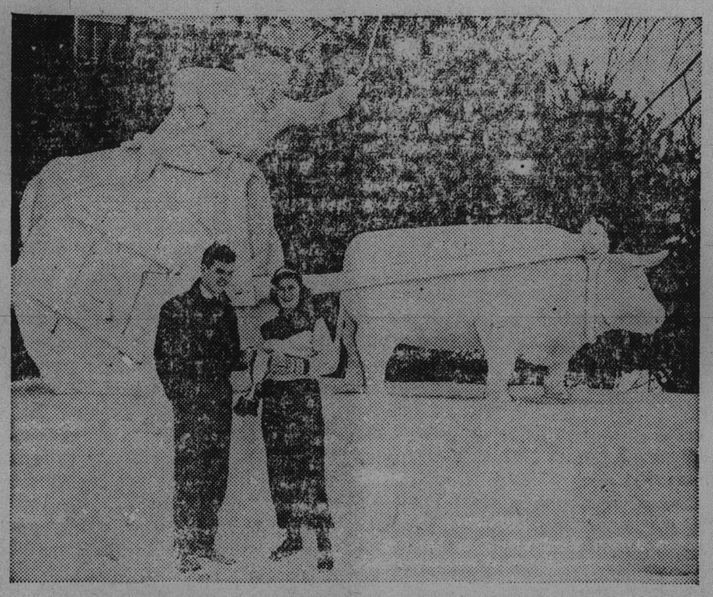
Good Old Days Were Never Like This

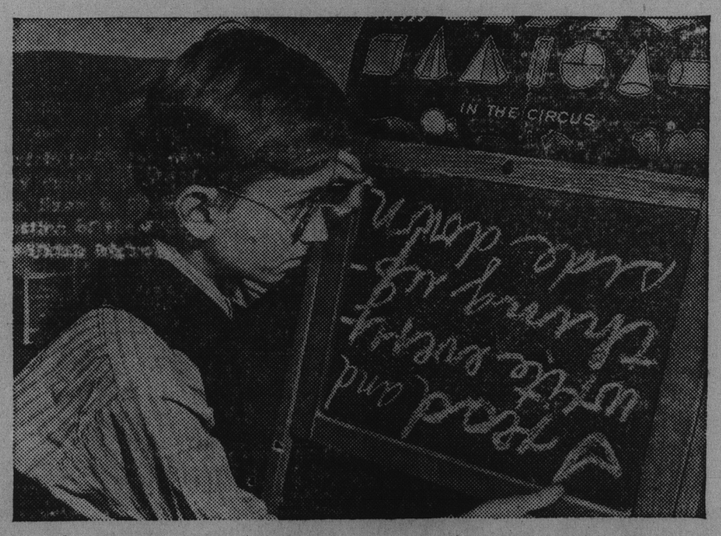
The Pony Express was just as thrilling, but not quite as fast, according to James Donnelly, an old Indian fighter and a scout in the days of the early west, as he sat at the controls of a modern transport plane in Miami. Donnelly greatly enjoyed his first ride.

'Eleazor Goes to Town'—At Dartmouth



Entitled "Eleazor Goes to Town," this snow sculpture won first place at the Dartmouth college winter carnival recently. It portrays the founder of Dartmouth college, who purchased the land on which the college stands from the Indians for 500 gallons of New England rum. Miss Dorothy Gardner, Steubenville, Ohio, presents a cup to Nathaniel Sample, Philadelphia, co-designer with John D. Horn.

The Whole World Topsy-Turvy to Him



Frank Balek, 12, Chicago youth, sees everything upside-down. He originated his own method of writing by beginning at the bottom, in the lower right hand corner, and writing from left to right. Not only does he read and write in this manner, but objects are also visually upside-down. He is in the fifth grade, and averages 85 in his studies, which indicates that his visual defection does not impede his educational progress.

Aimee Semple McPherson Returns

Not even during the lush days of the silent screen was a reigning star given a lustier welcome than that accorded Aimee Semple McPherson when she returned recently to Los Angeles from the tropics, where, she said, she rested, relaxed, and inspected her outposts. Huge crowds greeted her at the railway station.

C. H. M. A. BACKS INDEPENDENT MINES DEPT.

The California Hydraulic Mining Association, composed of more than 1000 mining people in Northern California principally interested in the revival of hydraulic mining, is on record in favor of an independent Department of Mines. Provision for the creation of an independent Department of Mines is provided in Senate Bill No. 786 introduced in the present legislature by Senator Harold J. Powers.

The Hydraulic Association appointed a committee of three to work for the creation of the new department, which would be accompanied by lifting the present Division of Mines out of the Department of Natural Resources and setting it up independently under the State Mining Board and a Director of Mines, who would be a member of the governor's council.

Members of the Hydraulic Mining Association committee are W. W. Esterly, chairman, secretary of the association and a resident of Grass Valley; F. H. Harvey of Galt and I. E. Rose of Iowa Hill. Benefits to be derived by the Mining Industry from separation of the Division of Mines from the Department of Natural Resources and making it a separate department are enumerated by the committee as follows:

1 Will separate it from the controversial divisions of the present set up of same within Department of Natural Resources.

2 Will establish the Director of the Mining Department as part of the official State Cabinet, in which the Director will sit in conference with others of this group at which times policy, budgets, and other important problems are promoted and established.

3 Permit a wider range of activities for the New Department; including more aid to the small operator, who is vitally in need of such aid, and thereby advancing the mining activities along various lines.

4 Creating a five man directorate, who will advise the department director concerning policy and program. Said members of the directorate to be representative o the various mining activities; thus providing an unbiased influence and helping to prevent special interest programs.

5 Separation will allow freedom of the Department of Mining to help all mining interests by maintaining vigilance and advising mining groups and individuals of same at all times.

6 New department could promote intelligent and educational program and present same to the populace at large for acquainting them more thoroughly with mining activities; helping to prevent unthinking and unnecessary anti-mining demonstrations.

7 Will allow more opportunity for research and co-operation with other state groups; which undoubtedly can eliminate the ever present stream pollution problem.

DAKIN COMPANY

The Dakin Corporation which has taken an option on gravel along Deer Creek on the old Champion property brought a truck load of machinery from Wolf Creek below Grass Valley to the scene of new operations Saturday evening. The dragline boat is being moved to the property. This company operated a dragline boat on Kanaka Creek south of Alleghany for a time last summer. Six men are employed.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By JEAN MARTZ

On Thursday the student body was entertained by an assembly on "Spooks and Frauds." The speaker has made a study of spiritualism, hypnotism and tricks practiced by people in these professions. Using Jim Hunter and Bill Joyal as victims, he demonstrated how a medium may introduce his clients to the spirits. He exposed the trick of spirit writing between two tightly fastened slates. In his talk on hypnotism he used John Muscardini. Although he seemed to be completely under a spell John was amazed to hear that there is no such thing as hypnotism.

John Muscardini reacted well, but was very dismayed when he learned the truth. The speaker showed how spiritualists move tables T.hey can use their feet at times and other times they use hooks at their wrists or belts or hooks on finger rings.

This demonstration was one of a number arranged for by Mrs. Flewellen. Some of the previous ones were "glass blowing" and "jui jitsui."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

A number of boys representing each class at the high school are working on a new plan for student government. This new plan will do away with the monitor system and use a point system for each class. If a member of a class violates the rules, that class has points deducted. At the end of the year the winning class will receive a party or picnic in their honor. This plan has been suggested but not ratified by the student body.

SKI CLUB

On Saturday some of the members of the Ski Club went to Cisco to participate in an inter-school ski meet. One of the Nevada City boys, Dick Gregory, placed in the downhill race. Dick is a freshman and will improve each year, so the outlook for Nevada City is fine. Mr. Hobbie is advisor for the ski club.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The senior girls met the junior girls in basketball last Thursday. The game was very even and exciting, but the seniors came out ahead with a score 17-15. Scoring was as follows: Seniors, Jean Martz 7, Alice Norton and Laurel Biggs each 4, Margie Keckler 2. Juniors: Charlotte Kaskling 7, Violet Soga 4, Virginia Collins and Doris Rosynski each 2. The girls will play volley ball soon with soccer following.

SEARCHLIGHT PUBLISHED

The Searchlight came out on Friday. It has a fine editorial page this issue dealing with the problems of the high school. These problems are quieting down in assemblies, use of the gymnasium, destruction of school property, student court, tennis court rules. In the sports page there is the line up of senior boys who have been important in athletics.

J. W. Morehead came down from his mine above Downieville a few days ago on a short visit to his home here.

ROAD BUILDDRS' TOPIC 'HIGHWAYS OF TOMORROW'

C. N. P. A. Service, Inc.

"This is the American way, where men gather to plan roads for the enjoyment of people and not for the destruction of humanity," said Comedian Eddie Cantor as he officially opened the 36th annual convention and highway exhibit of the American Road Builders' Association in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium last week.

"Highways of Tomorrow' was the theme note of this conclave of 20,000 road builders from the 48 states and 25 foreign countries.

Sounding the keynote of the convention, President Murray D. Van Wagoner, who is also Michigan highway commissioner, had this to say about the roads of the future, "Basically, the 'highways of tomorrow' wil be broad, intercity boulevards built for high speed safety travel with intersecting traffic eliminated and with traffic lanes didived to definitely prevent collision by opposing streams of traffic. There are plenty of places where present traffic justifies the building of the first links of a nation wide super highway system. Eventually we can fit in the transcontinental parts of it in the less populated areas."

Charles M. Upham of Washington, D. C., engineer-director of the American Road Builders' Association, seconded Van Wagoner's program with an illustrated talk before the Western Association of State Highway Officials, meeting concurrently with the Road Builders. Upham said, "The super highway program can be utilized as a cure for our economic ills, creating, as it will, a cycle of employment and the business that will put our 11,000,000 jobless to work. Death hazards of the road can be removed and safety can actually be built into the highways. The whole program can be paid for with the taxes that are now being collected from the highway users. Such a program is entirely feasible and practicable, if followed in an economic manner over a period of years."

Resolutions passed by the American Road Builders' Association Convention urge the use of federal auto motive excise taxes for highway use exclusively, endorse highway construction by the contract system, call upon congress to give prompt consideration to a nationwide program of super highway development, commend the state of California for its Golden Gate and San Francisco Oakland bay bridges and encourage the constitutional amendment method for outlawing highway revenue mis-appropriation to non-highway projects.

PHONE CO. OPEN HOUSE TO SHOW VOICE MIRROR

Manager E. E. Hoss of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will have a "Voice Mirror" here in Nevada City next Thursday and Friday as a featured attraction during the telephone employees' open house.

The "voice mirror", explained Hoss is an electro-mechanical device which records human speech as the speaker talks into a telephone instrument, and then in a few seconds repeats the speaker's words back over the same telephone. Thus, one can listen in on his own telephone voice and know just how it sounds to others. A similar unit is being displayed in the Bell System exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition.

Everybody who attends the telephone open house next Thursday and Friday will have an opportunity to try out their voices on the "voice mirror", Hoss said. Visiting hours will be 1:00 p. m. to 8:30 p. m., and visitors will be greeted by employees who will act as guides and personally conduct them on a tour of the central office. Here visitors will have an opportunity to see how their telephone calls are handle, how calls go through to distant cities, how trouble is detected, what makes the telephone bell ring, and many other interesting things about the business of giving telephone service.

"We believe that our friends and customers will get more enjoyment out of using the telephone if they are more familiar with what actually takes place in the central office when the operators puts through their calls," said Manager Hoss. "We have planned our open house with that in mind and hope to greet all of our customers and members of their families during the two day program."

ETHEL BARRYMOR IN "JOLNA" SACTO. FRIDAY

Ethel Barrymore, famed daughter of the Drews and Barrymores, will be in Sacramento on Friday evening March 24, after an absence of several years from the California stage.

She will star in Whiteoaks of Jalna in the Alhamba Theatre, which will suspend its creen program for this unusual stage event.

In Whiteoaks Ethel Barrymore plays a grizzled veteran of 101 winters—winters spent in the hottest and coldest parts of the British empire. The Whiteoak family in Mazo de la Roche's own dramatization of her own "Jalna" saga were resident in India when Gran was a girl. It was there she flirted with a sultan, and it is memories of her youth that keep her alive and warm when she is transplanted to Canada.

The episode from which the play was derived is taken from the second book of the series, Whiteoaks of Jalna, the part where Miss de la Roche brought the life of the old matriarch to a close and disposed of her rather important money. The circumstance that has to do with the will provides the actual plot. But, being the authoress as well as the dramatist has innumerable advantages. One can "lift" a bit here and there from one's own writings and incorporate those items into a play with perfect freedom. The authoress has not only done this, but she has with equal license added dramatic incidents and sparkling dialogue where the play required it.

As a personal triumph of characterization Miss Barrymore, as Gran, has reached the pinnacle according to the New York critics.

The next important role to that of the old lady in the play is that of Finch, the music loving grandson. This part is in the capable hands of Harry Ellerbe. Others in the cast are Robert Shayne, Lenore Chippendale, Wryley Birch, Reynolds Denniston, Allan Hale, Audrey Ridgwell, Martha Hodge, Joseph Roeder and Peter Fernandez.

Tickets for this exceptioal theatrical event are on sale at Ye Music Shoppe in Sacramento. Ware and Hazelton are the local managers.

The many friends of Mrs. Gypsy King will be pleased to learn she is making a satisfactory recovery from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Long, of Alameda spent the past week end in Nevada City visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Lageson. Mr. Long is agricultural commissioner of Alameda county. Each year Mr. and Mrs. Long come to Nevada City to celebrate the birthdays of Mr. Long and his namesake Master Gordon Lageson, the latter son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Lageson.

H. P. Davis has just received another letter from his wife who is still in Amsterdam visiting her daughter and family. Mrs. Davis left Nevada City about three months ago for Europe and has visited in Switzerland, Norway and Holland. She will also visit in England before returning home. Praise for her new book "The World is a Round Thing" continues to pour in, the latest coming from a librarian in Cincinnati.

ST. PATRICKS DANCE A BIG SUCCESS

The annual St. Patrick's dance held at Armory hall Saturday night was a big success. The St. Patrick dance is an annual affair sponsored alternately by St. Patricks parish of Grass Valley and St. Canice parish of Nevada City. This year it was St. Canice's turn and the committee in charge and parish members put forth every effort to make it the success it proved to be. There was a fine program followed by dancing to the music of Bob Wilson's orchestra. The hall was filled with dancers and many spectators. Proceeds of the affair will be used in the parish work.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ghidotti spent te last week end in San Franisco and viewing the world fair on Treasure Island.
